

LIE GIVEN TO NICOLL.

Hot Talk by Lawyers at Gates's Hearing in Court.

John W. Gates, the multi-millionaire and chairman of the American Steel and Wire Company, was before Judge Zeller in the Central Court this morning for the third time in proceedings brought on the ground that his president-chairman had juggled the market price of stock by making false reports.

George Alfred Lamb, who is pressing the charges, asked for further adjournment because he had been unable to subpoena certain important witnesses.

"The defense is working hard against us, even going to Chicago and buying every available copy of the newspapers containing the wrongful statements of Mr. Gates," he said.

The motion to adjourn was denied. The prosecuting lawyer spent the first hour trying to introduce newspaper interviews as evidence. They did not succeed. A reporter was allowed to say that Mr. Gates had told him what was printed.

President John Lambert, of the Corporation, was called, but not allowed to say much, the lawyers taking up all the time.

Lawyer Lamb was then instructed by the Magistrate to take the stand, counsel for the defendant requesting it. In answer to questions Mr. Lamb said that he was not acting for anybody but himself when he brought the suit. He did not hold any stock in the steel and wire company. He had consulted Washington Seligman, a stockholder, however, before making his complaint.

Mr. Lamb was then asked by Mr. Gates's counsel if he was a stockholder in the company. He refused to answer.

"Your Honor," said Mr. Nicoll, "I insist upon an answer. I will show that this case is a case of conspiracy backed by Wall Street men who looked for return from it."

And I want to say you lie," shouted Mr. Lamb, and he persisted in his refusal to tell his client's name, saying it would hurt the man if his identity were known.

The proceedings were interrupted a moment by the Magistrate, who, looking straight at Mr. Gates, said:

"Mr. Gates, remove that cigar!" The defendant, who had been munching a big cigar from the time he entered the court, quickly removed it.

Assistant District Attorney Osborne was a witness for his chief this afternoon. He praised the work of his office.

The afternoon session was an almost continuous wrangle between the lawyers, ending important being brought out. The hearing now closed and the Magistrate pronounced a speedy decision.

KILLED IN COLLISION.

Plant Southbound Train Run Into at a Siding—No Passengers Injured.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 9.—A southbound passenger train on the Plant Railroad system and the northbound train of the Southern collided at Hardeville, 8 C. forty miles from here, to-day.

John Jackson, fireman of the Southern, was killed and several employees were injured. No passengers were hurt.

The Plant train was pulling into a siding when the collision occurred.

DROWNED IN RESERVOIR.

Unknown Man Committed Suicide in Central Park To-Day.

An unknown man seized the iron railing about the reservoir in Central Park, on the west side of the park, near Ninety-fifth street, this morning and jumped into the reservoir and was drowned. Employees of the park are now grappling for his body.

WHO HAS SEEN HER DOG?

Little Augusta Mummer is Sorrowing Over the Loss of Her Black and Tan, Prince.

New York, May 7, 1900. To the Editor of The Evening World:

I have heard so much about your kindness that I cannot refrain myself from asking a favor also. I am most certain that you will grant my petition.

My heart is almost broken ever since my little dog is lost. Would you please help me find him by letting your readers know? I am sure some one will return him by learning my sorrow.

His name is Prince and is a black-and-tan dog. His markings are white breast, tan paws and around eyes and mouth. My dog has taken out his second license on May 1, 1900. The dog is a year and a half old. I am twelve years old and a scholar of grammar school No. 164, class 1, B2. Thanking you very much for your grace, I am yours in obedience,

AUGUSTA MUMMER, 630 East 16th street, P. S.—The number of license is 3,052.

Harper's Bazar in New Form.

In its new magazine form Harper's Bazar is certain to appeal to all of its old readers and many thousands of new ones. For from its artistic cover page to its last line it is a well balanced, carefully edited, beautifully illustrated, high-class periodical. The Bazar from the beginning has been edited with rare journalistic skill and discretion, and never more ably than at present.

Fell Down Elevated Road Stairs. Mrs. Rachael Zeman, thirty years old, of 125 Hancock street, Brooklyn, fell down a stairway of the City Hall station of the Third Avenue R. R. road this morning and injured her left arm. She was attended and sent home.

Hit Head on Sign Board and Taken to Hospital by Train.

George Page, an engineer on the Ninth Avenue elevated railroad, felled too far from his cab this afternoon, as his train was speeding along downtown over the long stretch between Fifty-first and Seventy-second streets, and got his head injured, the doctors think.

At Seventy-seventh street his head struck a signboard and he was hurled from the cab. He fell in a heap on the trestle, the blood running from a frightful wound in his head.

It all came about so suddenly that the trainmen scarcely knew what had happened. He was now so near the station that he let the train run to Seventy-second street.

He reported the accident there, and it was thought best to take the injured man to Roosevelt Hospital, which is at Thirty-ninth street.

He was picked up by the next train. When the passengers got on at Sixty-sixth street, and among them there were a great many women, they little knew that a man, battered and bruised, was near death in the engine cab.

Page was removed to the hospital when Fifty-ninth street was reached. He was still unconscious. He is forty-five years old and his home is at 111 Woodcrest avenue.

The Magistrate, who, looking straight at Mr. Gates, said:

"Mr. Gates, remove that cigar!" The defendant, who had been munching a big cigar from the time he entered the court, quickly removed it.

Assistant District Attorney Osborne was a witness for his chief this afternoon. He praised the work of his office.
